Mary Baldwin College
Staunton, Virginia 24401

MARTHA S. GRAFTON LIBRARY
MARY BALDWIN COLLEGE

Transitions are constant at M.B.C. From Seminary in 1842, to College, Mary Baldwin continues to be ever-changing and expanding. Now more than ever, an institution which realizes the changing needs of its students deserves recognition; Mary Baldwin has achieved that recognition for instilling in its students intelligence, honor, and ambition.

However, the transitions are not only within the college, but they are also within each individual student. From freshman to senior year, every Mary Baldwin student grows and learns, not just in class but from the total environment and its experiences. By the end of her four years, the senior realizes that ambition, confidence, and education are the only tickets she needs.

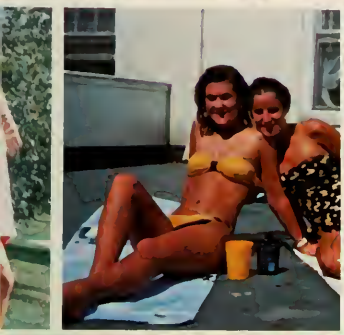

The Only Ticket

Laura Ruhl, Libby Linden, and Karen Griffin catch up on summer gossip after arriving on campus in September.

You Need

Taking advantage of both the sunny day, and some free time, Mary Marshall Harrell and Sassy Carragher do some studying and some chatting on main campus.

The Only

Junior Joelle Keith, tanned and 'ray-banned', gets ready for yet another year of socializing down the road.

Ticket You Need

"The basic fact of today is the tremendous pace of change in human life." This maxim seems even more appropriate now than when it was written in 1958 by Jawaharlal Nehru. These changes, transitions, can be seen everywhere; from big cities to small campuses.

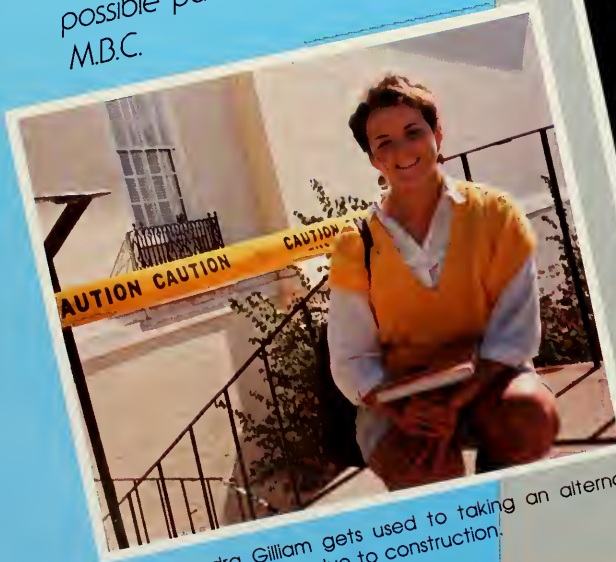

Our small campus is a perfect example of this "tremendous pace." Although four years seem like a very long time to a freshman, to a senior those four years seem quite short. The changes that all college students go through are constant. Our transitions here at Mary Baldwin College are physical not psychological. We as members of this community grow and learn at a "tremendous pace" during four short years.

These freshmen obviously prefer to remain anonymous by the looks of it. . . We might not know who they are, but we know where to find them — GOSHEN!

Transitions are also physically visible. On campus the changes on the grounds are to suit the times. The academic building, although traditional in many respects, is being updated and modernized. Expansion for the physical education department began with the designs for the new gymnasium. Career Services expanded into the Sena Center due to the increasing options for women in career choices. The bulldozers and cranes are now considered part of the daily routine on campus. To the M.B.C. student their presence does not signify destruction, but rather progress. The same progress which gives the student a chance to expand her visions and increase the number of possible paths in life, which start at M.B.C.

The Only Ticket

Sandra Gilliam gets used to taking an alternate route to class due to construction.

You Need

Students Jessica Cox, Jenny Simpson, and Anne O'Connell spend a few minutes between classes investigating the new construction site in front of the library.

The Only

These Apple Dayers got into the spirit of things, right down to their shorts — boxer shorts, that is!

Ticket You Need

Each year an old tradition makes the transition of passing from one sophomore class to the next. Apple Day, this year The All American Apple Day, is a tradition that will not change — it will always be an exciting day filled with the enthusiasm of the sophomore class. The mixer, the night before, is the time for all classes to let loose. Red and green rogas, boxers, t-shirts, and even socks are the usual garb at the Apple Day mixer.

The class of 1989 sponsored this year's Day not only came up with a great theme, but also lyrics to a theme song, to be sung to the tune of "American Pie."

Bye, Bye, Miss American Pie. Drove my beemer up to Baldwin, where the party was dry. And good ol' girls were smiling saying "hi!", Tonight we're gonna party all night ...

The spirit of Apple Day carried well into the night.

The Only Ticket

dunking Gretchen Carrer or the 1986 Apple Queen Carolyn Bennett in the dunking booth was only one of the many activities in which students could participate. Bobbing for apples, sack races, and pie eating contests were all a part of the day's events.

At the end of a terrific day the entire campus heard the music of Heins and Day while picnicing on the lawn in front of Hunt Dining Hall. The finale of the day's festivities was the singing of "American Pie" as sparklers lit up the evening sky.

Apple Queen Carolyn Bennett was a great sport to get dunked on such a crisp October day!

You Need

Sophomore Martha Hendrickson shows freshman Graham Smith how to truly become a part of the Apple Day Festivities — an experience she is not likely to forget! Keep holding your breath, Graham!

The Only

Freshman Dana Both, parents of freshman Gretchen Carter, and Ken Armstrong gather for a "scrumptous" dinner in Mary Baldwin's own Hunt Dining Hall!

Ticket You Need

Mackay Morris and Karen Ann Sisko don their caps, and officially become seniors during Founders' Day ceremonies.

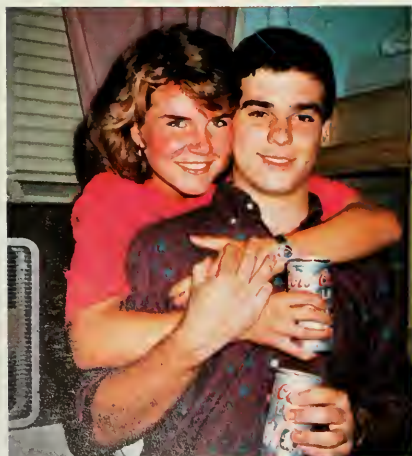

It is not a coincidence that the College schedules Freshman Parents' Weekend and Founders' Day on the same date. Both of these classes, the oldest and the youngest are going through transitions. The seniors are invested with their caps and gowns, the first official recognition of the impending commencement in May. The freshmen have already changed drastically from the shy and overwhelmed girls who arrived only a few weeks earlier. This is a time for freshmen to show their parents what they've already done, and for the seniors to represent what they will become.

Mallory Copeland, Margret Mathis, Joanie Grassberger, and Holly Porter . . .
You can dress them up, but you can't take them out.

Goofy say's take this job and . . . Kim Gershner fools around after welcoming the new PEG students.

Freshman Kellie Warner starts the year off right with a date for W&L Homecoming.

Laura Dudley and Jeff Robbins, in the pre-party mood, get ready for the Apple Day Mixer.

The 1987 Kable Crew back and ready for action.

Chris Bane and Lisa Albanoski enjoy the sun one fall afternoon while watching a field hockey game.

Underclassmen gear up for another wild weekend with a little pre-party on the hall.

A surprised Carmen Vaught gets caught on the other side of the camera, at the end of Apple Day.

Tiffany Burks, Tracy Brickner, and Laura Ruhl break in the new Chute Room with a few "silver bullets" and some smiles.

Seniors Laura Byrd and Shari Semple take time out from college and play at King's Dominion.

Denise Kuhn, Kim Gershner, and Susan Everly celebrate being seniors at the class night banquet.

Suzy Hooper and Susan Seymour relax after a hectic exam schedule with Christmas in the U.S. Virgin Islands.

Kevin Costigan and Cheri Freeman celebrate their last Apple Day at M.B.C.

SENIORS!

87

We're the class of 87,
Doubt we'll ever get to heaven.

We're the ones that caught the law,
Though we always do it all.

SENIORS

Keydets and frats both know us
well,
From V.M.I. to W and L.

We're the ones who will be seen,
With Calvin, Ralph, and L.L. Bean.

We're the class with lots of class,
We will not be surpassed.

We're the class of 87,
1-9-8-7, HEY!
1-9-8-7, HEY!

The class of 1987 assumed their roles as seniors smoothly, and with great ease. Three years of hard work paid off in challenging positions and traditional privileges. The class of 87's final year is full of both joy and sadness. They are ready to face new decisions, new responsibilities, and a new lifestyle. Mary

Baldwin will always be remembered not only as the end of one period in their lives, but also as the beginning of another.

The class officers are: Karen Ann Sisko, president; Missy Price, vice-president; Cherie Sawtelle, secretary; Elizabeth Rawls, treasurer. Class colors are green and white.

All learned schoolmasters and tutors agree that little children do not know what they want, but no one likes to admit that grown men stumble across this earth like children, not knowing when they

juniors

With Junior Dads' completed and class rings on hand, the junior class prepares for the responsibilities that the senior class will leave to them. The juniors final year at M.B.C. is close; their campus involvement and leadership ability is now critical to the college community. The class of 1988 prepares for senior year with confidence and charisma, planning to make their last year the best year.

Juniors get a taste of the Real World.

Many juniors get a jump on the job market by taking externships inside of their discipline. From Wall street to Atlanta, juniors have worked for firms as assistants, gophers, and sales representatives. By externing with a corporation juniors make valuable contacts that will invariably help after graduation. Now with the expanded Career Services, Mary Baldwin graduates have even better chances of getting that elusive first job before commencement.

With Apple Day and Sophomore show this year, the second year students have a busy schedule. They try to raise money for their Junior Dads' weekend. the class spirit that the juniors and seniors have already attained.

The Second Year

Despite the fact that Sophomores have been classically defined as "wise fools," the MBC Sophomore's are no fools when it comes to male visitation. After a year at MBC, most Sophomores have found their place in the social circuit. Whether their date is from W&L, VMI, Hampden-Sydney, or a "hometown honey," male visitation is always appreciated. Signing their dates in and out, screaming "MAN ON THE HALL!," making "man in the shower," signs, and finding an extra mattress to make their dates stay as pleasant as possible are now second hand chores for the class of 1989.

After some primping, sophomores Tracey Cote, Pam Pruitt, Julie King, and Shelby Powell are ready to hit the social circuit to find Mr. Right.

The class of 1990 brings to Mary Baldwin new ideas and a fresh outlook to the campus. Their input changes the attitudes around campus as they become a real part of M.B.C. Although all freshmen seem a little lost at first, by October the members of the class of 90 know their way around not only Mary Baldwin's campus, but those of V.M.I., W and L, U.V.A., and H-SC! The class officers are: Gretchen Carter, president; Margaret Dudley, vice- president; Kellie Warner, treasurer; Meg Libby, secretary. The class colors are burgundy and gold.

Roadtrips, parties, that's our game,
We'll keep proud that Baldwin name.

Through the years we'll rise to fame,
We'll put the other schools to shame.

Freshmen make a commitment.

Each year the members of the freshmen class sign the honor charter and present it to the President and the Student Government Association. It is a tradition at Mary Baldwin for the newest class to make the commitment to abide by the honor code. The honor code not only teaches the freshmen how to work honestly, but hopefully instills in all students a belief that will last a lifetime.

S.G.A. president Kim Gershner, President Tyson, and the honor council help freshmen understand the traditions of the code.

Freshmen get all tangled up.

Although Mary Baldwin is a small college, freshmen still have a tendency to get a bit tangled during their first few days at school. Because of this the floorboards sponsored the Knot Game as a way for the freshmen to learn to work as a group. But the game proved to teach freshmen more than just team work; the class of 1990 learned about each other: names, hometowns, high schools, and boyfriends . . .

The Program For The Exceptionally Gifted

The Program for the Exceptionally Gifted is in its second year, but even at such a young age, it has evolved quickly and met with some great challenges and successes. Sharing their time between Stuart Hall and MBC, the PEGs are kept busy.

The PEG administration led by Ms. T. Garrison.

Mary Baldwin, students, faculty, and staff, along with the Staunton community, get updated on the AIDS epidemic.

Dr. Kibler and daughter Jennifer share a special moment during Christmas by putting a star on the senior class tree.

Ellen Satterwhite, Winifred Gravely, and Melinda Fitzgerald enjoy a bottle of "bubbly" at Christmas dinner.

Ken Armstrong auctions off Kym Brown during the PBL auction.

Kris Dudley takes on a fellow classmate in "self defense."

Events!

Mary Baldwin College offers many chances for the campus and Staunton community to enjoy diverse concerts throughout the academic year. The Broman concert series sponsors a number of exceptional instrumental presentations each year at a moderate cost.

Through the Mary Baldwin choir, such groups as the Yale Whiffenpoofs, the UNC Clefhangers, the Mt. Holyoke concert choir, and the Cornell Hang-Overs have appeared. These concerts give the college opportunity to introduce and enhance an interest in all forms of music.

The Chestnut Brass quintet performs in Francis as part of the Broman Concert Series.

The Mary Baldwin Choir performs at Founders' Day.

Panel Discussions and Lectures

President Tyson opens the floor to questions.

The Mary Baldwin community has taken to the issues, raised questions and looked for answers from A.I.D.S. to Bulemia, Job Strategy to Racial Consciousness. The students, faculty and staff have been given many opportunities to experience informative lectures and discussions on recent and interesting topics.

A.I.D.S. Panel discussion raises questions and eyebrows.

Flecher Collins Theatre Presents . . .

Theatre productions are an important part of the cultural atmosphere of the college. From Ibsen's A Doll's House to Noel Coward's Present Laughter, there is a wide spectrum of shows which will suit any taste. The theatre department showcases its talents proudly in the Flecher Collins Theatre with a great amount of success.

Carol Barnett vamps it up during Present Laughter.

Welcome and welcome back

Summer flies by and sooner than anyone knows, we are packing to come back to MBC. From stuffed animals to refrigerators, the laden family wagon makes the annual trip back to Staunton. Finally, after carrying all those boxes and crates up multiple flights of stairs — the welcome smile of new and old friends reminds one of the fun to come.

Margaret, Joanie, and Mallory treat themselves to a cold "Silver Bullet" after settling in.

Ken Armstrong gets involved.

Can you read upside down? Mary Baldwin girls can!

Mary Baldwin goes Abroad

Each year, a number of Mary Baldwin students are given the unique opportunity of studying abroad. From the Doshisha's Women's College outside of Kyoto, Japan to the timeless Oxford University, Mary Baldwin girls expand outside the traditional system of American education, developing new insights and ideas about the world. This year four Mary Baldwin students participated in the Virginia Programme at Oxford: Monica Derbes, Kerri Costigan, Dianne Herron and Ann Burnley. Both Honey Plumley and Natalie Saylor spent their first semesters in London and Spain, respectively.

Honey Plumley and Tracey Brickner share a moment in London.

Anne Burnely and Kerri Costigan spend a weekend in Paris after a hard week of tutorials in Oxford.

Junior Dads'

A long standing tradition, Junior Dads' Dance is a time to share with families the spirit of Mary Baldwin. The planning and fund raising brings the class together, but nothing makes the class realize its closeness than the magic night itself.

Christmas Cheer

Each year, for one night, the Mary Baldwin community puts aside their books and impending exams before they leave for Christmas break. Christmas Dinner is a welcome change in the Dining Hall — an unrushed holiday meal with friends. Presents and good will are exchanged with Eta Betas and for a few moments, snow and studies are gone.

Gathering for Christmas Cheer are long time friends Joanie, Margaret, Claire, Kerri, Holly, Simone, Mallory, Kathy and Kelly.

Elizabeth Hawkins and Amy Dixon get carried away by the excitement of the Christmas Dinner.

SGA Takes The Lead

For over 50 years, student government has been an important part of life at Mary Baldwin. It is the participation in campus activities that gives us spirit and unity, and keeps the Student Government Association an integral part of Mary Baldwin College. The SGA Banquet is held every spring after the election and installation of the Student Government Association.

Misty Sweet uses her opportunity at meet the candidates to win over votes in the elections.

Lights, Action, Sophomores!

Each year, the Sophomore class performs for their parents and other members of the Mary Baldwin Community a play. The show is done over Sophomore Parent's Weekend. This year's play was entitled, "The Truth about Cinderella." In the humorous play, Cinderella was depicted as the mean child and the step sisters were the sweet innocent ones. All second semester, the Sophomore class prepared for their big night, and they carried it off like professionals.

Parties

After a long week of hard work, there is no better way to celebrate than to go up to the S.A.C. and enjoy a few beers and some great music. The social committee works hard behind the scenes to make everything go smoothly.

Martha Quarles, Louisa Harrell, Anne Hess and VMI cadet Matt Morgan chat at A.A.E.

Executive Committee

The Executive Committee is a seven member group composed of the Student Government Association President, Vice-President, Secretary, and Treasurer, along with the chairwomen of the Judicial Board, Honor Council, and House Presidents' Council. The Executive Committee serves as a sounding board for student concerns and helps to make decisions that involve the Mary Baldwin community. It provides an important link among faculty, administration, and the student body.

Senate

The Senate is the legislative branch of Student Government. Each Resident Hall has representatives to the Senate. The senate holds bi-monthly meetings to effect change in Student Government procedures as well as student in life. The officers include president of Senate, Secretary of SGA and Parlimentarian.

Honor Council

The Mary Baldwin Honor Pledge:
Believing in the principles of student government, I pledge myself to uphold the ideals and regulations of the Mary Baldwin community. I recognize the principles of honor and cooperation at the basis of our life together and shall endeavor faithfully to order my life accordingly and to encourage others to fulfill the ideals of the honor system.

Judicial Board

The Judicial Board consists of 12 members; 4 elected from each class. The objective of the Judicial Board is to enforce the social regulations of the student body, administration, and the laws of the Commonwealth of Virginia.

House Presidents' Council

The Council is composed of the chairwoman and the house presidents from each residence hall. Their duties include serving as communication link between the administration and students. In the residence halls, the house presidents' duties include the dispensing of information, the maintaining of order, and the promotion of positive activities.

Resident Advisors

The Resident Advisor program is designed to provide peer counseling and educational programs in the residence halls. Each R.A. receives training in counseling, first-aid, CPR, crisis intervention, and the use of resource referrals. Although initially aimed at assisting new students, the R.A. program reaches out to all students in need of assistance.

Campus Activities

Community Involvement Committee

Cultural Activities

Films Committee

The Films Committee provides a source of entertainment for the Mary Baldwin community. The committee shows a variety of two or three movies per month at a low cost. In 1986-87, the committee has become involved with the International Films Committee to help promote a greater selection of films. The films committee brings a welcome break from studying to the MBC campus.

Outdoor Pursuits

The Outdoor Pursuits Committee tries to give MBC Students the opportunity to enjoy outdoor life. From pumpkin picking to camping in Nag's Head, Outdoor Pursuits gave to our campus a chance to expand and develop potential that would not have been realized otherwise.

Publicity Committee

Social Activities

This organizations plans social events of interest, both on and off-campus (i.e. parties, performers.) They act as liaison with area colleges and universities through membership in the Inter-School Council for Student Activities.

Bacchus

Bacchus is an acronym for Boost Alcohol consciousness concerning the Health of University Students. As an organization, its goal is to extend alcohol education to the M.B.C. community. Its programs have included participation in the statewide A.I.M. week, campus movies, and guest speakers.

Baldwin Boosters

Baldwin Boosters is a student organization which exists to promote the college. This includes student participation in programs designed to boost the college image to prospective students, parents, and alumnae. Past activities sponsored by Baldwin Boosters includes: overnight programs; delivery of care packages; making banners and posters for sport teams; selling flowers during parent weekends.

Big Sisters

In the 1986-87 academic year the Big Sister organization continued the tradition of assigning to freshmen and transfer students upperclassmen as big sisters. Besides from the gift giving in September, and the study break during exams, the Big Sister organization lends support to new students by making the adjustments a little easier.

Fine Arts Association

Circle K

Cosmos International Club

Minority Women in Unity

This years Minority Women in Unity was led by officers Gamelia Milton, Mikki Sharpe, Carol Horsford, and Kim Quezada. Minority Women in Unity promotes minority awareness at Mary Baldwin College. They believe any persons differing from the majority in race or nationality is a minority. Any MBC students wishing to join this club are welcome.

Orientation Chairwomen

The positions of orientation chairwomen involve work that begins in the spring and ends the following year after freshmen have settled in. This year's chairwomen were Lisa Derby and Cindy Cundiff. They created the theme "Visions: Yours, Mine, and Ours."

Religious Life Committee

Religious Life Committee is an interfaith group whose focus is on faith and action. The Committee is subdivided into four main areas of interest: the Worship group, the service group, the growth group, and the S.N.A.P.S. group. While anyone is invited to join RCL, it is comprised of at least one representative from each residence hall SEED group.

Student Admissions

The student Admissions Committee is an organized group of students who support the Admissions office in their recruitment efforts. The Committee's efforts are concentrated on campus programs such as the student phonathons.

Student Handbook Committee

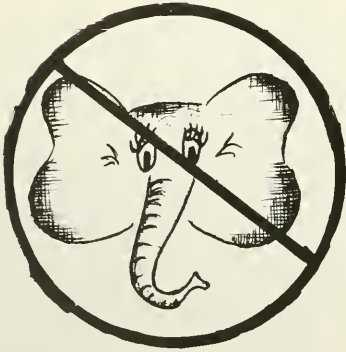

The Student Handbook Committee compiles information concerning campus activities, organizations, and student life. The handbook is then published and distributed to every Mary Baldwin student when she arrives in the fall. The handbook is an informational guide to all aspects of campus life.

College Republicans

This year the College Republicans dedicated themselves to supporting political candidates. Much of their effort was put into supporting Flo Traywick's campaign through literature drops and a "burma shave" which was covered in The Daily Leader. On February 20, some of the members went to the College Republican Convention, which is a three day meeting of all College Republicans from around the state.

Young Democrats

Student Health Advisory Committee

SHAC is a service organization promoting good health on campus. Membership is open to anyone interested in health. Various activities include: Fitness Day, The Great American Smoke-out, the Health Fair and Blood Drives. The chairwoman is Trudy Rickman, who works with advisor Jane Caplen, R.N.

Chess Club

The Mary Baldwin Chess Club offers lessons and games in chess in a challenging and enjoyable atmosphere. Dr. James Patrick is the faculty sponsor and mentor of the group. The other members are Mr. Ken Armstrong, Margaret Liston, Fran Plant and Sarah Stuart.

ABV Representatives

Phi Beta Lambda

Phi Beta Lambda is the business organization on campus. There are currently 28 members, all of which are either business, computer science, communications or economics majors.

PBL's activities include: a Book Drive for the local prisons; a wine and cheese party as part of the membership drive; the annual PBL Auction to which students, faculty, and staff donate products and services.

College Choir

Baldwin Charm

Baldwin Charm is a fourteen member choral group originally formed in the spring of 1985. Its repertoire includes barbershop, acappella, and piano accompanied selections. The group toured Texas in the fall of 1986 with President Cynthia Tyson. Future plans for Charm include appearances at the Green Briar and a tour of various east coast colleges.

Campus Comments

This year Campus Comments, the student newspaper, went from a monthly to a bi-monthly publication. The paper is produced with the cooperation of The Daily News Leader of Staunton. In November, five staff members went to the Associated Collegiate Press Convention in Washington, D.C. They attended seminars and met staff members from college papers around the country.

Dance Group

Fencing Club

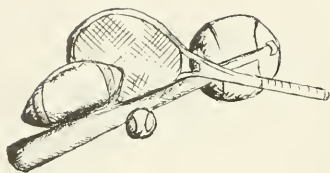

Track Club

The Track Club is one of three non-varsity sports clubs. Competing in division three, the Track Club runs cross country in the fall and competes in traditional track and field events in the spring.

Intramural Sports Representatives

Omicron Delta Kappa is a National Leadership Honor Society that recognizes members of the campus community who represents all phases of collegiate life. It places an emphasis on the whole person as exemplified six areas of collegiate life — scholarship, athletics, social and service activities, government, mass media, and creative and performing arts. In 1976, Mary Baldwin became the first women's college to receive a charter.

The Basketball Team raises a lot of "Hoopla!"

7hundering up and down the basketball court, the MBC basketball team works out in the King Gym preparing for success. Coach Kasselmann screams out words of encouragement and correction. The team showed great improvement through out the season, and the underclassmen are excited about the prospects of next year.

Jeanne Holmes stretches for the winning point against Sweet Briar.

Christy Shelton concentrates to make the point as tension mounts.

Stephanie Permenter takes a shot.

Make It Burn!

From Jane Fonda to free weights, our campus is becoming health conscious and trying to stay in shape. The campus pushes by stretching, toning, swimming, and sweating their way through work outs.

MBC Aerobicizes

Working out is "universal" at Mary Baldwin.

Spencer lounge turns into an aerobics area at night.

Keeping in shape doesn't necessarily mean wearing sweats. These sophomores bundle up and head for Wintergreen.

Michelle O'Brien and roomie ask a very important question: We think the answer is a definite "Yes!"

Apple Day Partners: Marrie, Joanne, Gigi, and Lizanne get ready in Kable.

Kelley Warner flips burgers like a pro as Woodson cooks out in the fall.

Mary Hess and Karen Campbell love their spacious triple in Rose, after years of cramped quarters.

Senior Margaret Stephenson lends a lap to Susan Wilson on third floor of Kable.

Jean Martino checks out the dinner menu.

Lucretia Cavan can always find a minute in her busy schedule to smile for the camera.
Okay, who's office?

A speech from Dr. Tyson is always a perfect ending to an MBC supper.

Dean and Mrs. Lott enjoy a leisurely dinner in the dining hall. Merry Christmas!

In Memoriam . . .

Bill Blakeley, in his two and one-half years as Assistant Professor of Business Management, took a sincere interest in the welfare of the College and the success of each of his students.

His extracurricular assignments ranged from the Admissions Committee to a Trustee Committee; in all appointments he brought new insights and fresh ideas. His work on the Task Force Committee gave him a significant role in shaping the future directions of the College.

An exciting and demanding teacher, he inspired his students to do their best work. He brought into the classroom his own experiences and thus made clear that what he taught was not merely text-book rhetoric. The material was relevant to his students' future. He believed strongly that there were alternatives to the traditional Lecture/discussion methods of teaching. He video-taped some of his courses and foresaw these and other courses in the college being taught on closed circuit television. Bill taught both in the traditional program and in the Adult Degree Program, and thus he touched the lives of a wide variety of our students, all of whom profited from that association.

For all of his contributions to the life and future of the College, we are grateful.

But we will remember him most for the man he was. We will remember him for his wit and good spirits, for his sympathy and concern for others, for his unfailing courtesy and kindness. In the years I knew him I never heard him speak an unkind word; I never saw him do an unkind act.

Bill Blakeley won the respect and admiration of everyone who knew him. He was a model for each of us to emulate.

Dr. Ethel M. Smeak

Dedication

For three years the Bluestocking has been guided by an extraordinary teacher and firend. Advising us through contracts, deadlines, budgets, and multiple crises, Dr. Kenneth W. Keller has given to the Bluestocking his time, ideas, and plenty of inspiration.

However, Dr. Keller is not only valued by the Bluestocking staff. He is, as an Associate Professor of History, an integral part of the Mary Baldwin community. He brings history to life through his imaginative use of field trips, films, and classroom fun. Dr. Keller has taught us the history of our nation, our politics, our religions, and our college.

For these reasons and for the countless more that go unmentioned, the 1987 Bluestocking is proudly dedicated to our advisor, Professor Ken Keller, with our deepest gratitude and respect.

KAREN DAWN:

It doesn't seem so long ago your head rested on my shoulder and I held your hand in mine.
It doesn't seem so long ago you were all dressed up for your first day of school, and I smiled with pride.
It doesn't seem so long ago you showed me how you had grown, and I realized you weren't a child anymore.
You still bring me more pride and joy than you will ever know.

CONGRATULATIONS!
WE LOVE YOU!, Mom and Dad

Ellen,

You have surpassed all our expectations of you. We always knew you were special and your education at Mary Baldwin has brought out more of the special qualities you possess. No matter what path you pursue in your career or whichever road you travel in life, we stand behind you to love and support you.

Love,

Mom and Dad

Congratulations! MELISSA ANN BAILEY

We are so proud of you!

Love,

Mother, Dad, Tami
Chase, and Shelly

TO AMY WYATT:

A Special Graduation Message For You

A special day like this one
Is made happier by the thought
Of you and all the special joys
That you have always brought,
And so this wishes happiness
And brings this message, too —
The world's a brighter, lovelier place
Because of a daughter like you!

Congratulations!

Love Always, Mom and Dad
